Louise Amelia SONDEREGGER

Louise A. Clegg
Dies In Provo

16 Mar 1942

Mrs. Louise Amelia Clegg, 72, died Monday in a Provo hospital after an illness.

Born November 10, 1883 in Midway, she was a daughter of Johannes and Bertha Buhler Sonderegger. She married Robert Clegg, Oct. 7, 1903 in Midway and the marriage was later solemnized in the Salt Lake Temple. He died March 17, 1942. She was an active member of the L. D. S. Church.

Surviving are 10 sons and daughters: Mrs. James (Bessie) Bruce, Van Nuys, Calif.; Mrs. Charlie (Ida) Powers, North Hollywood, Calif.; Earl and Mrs. Leonard Ferguson, Provo; Ervin, Bakersfield, Calif.; Dean, Rivera, Calif.; Mrs. Jack (Estella) Longman, Salt Lake City; Mrs. James (Gladys) Callaway, Norwalk, Calif.; Mrs. Blaine (Lois) Howard, Long Beach, Calif.; Mrs. Neil (Lola) Yeoman, Clearfield; 35 grandchildren; seven great-grandchildren; one brother, John Sonderegger, Boston, Mass.; four sisters: Mrs. Bertha Wilson, Midway; Mrs. Minnie McDonald, Mrs. Ida Anderson, Mrs. Emma Nelson, all of Heber.

Funeral services were conducted Thursday at 2:00 p. m. in the Heber Fourth Ward chapel. Burial was in the Heber City cemetery.

the homes in Center Creek, Lake Creek, Heber and even in Salt Lake City. Some of the buildings constructed of the stone were the Stake House and County Court House, the jail and the Central and North Schools, all in Heber. The sand stone was also used for sidewalks and for lining graves.

Lake Creek settlers also had their irrigation water problems as the population began to grow, and on May 2, 1888 the farmers of the area met to formulate plans for an irrigation company. An organizing committee was formed with Robert Broadhead as chairman and Robert Clegg as secretary. By July 6, 1888 the company organization was ready and Mr. Broadhead was elected as the first president. William Lindsay was named secretary with Henry Chatwin as treasurer and John Lee and Henry Clegg as directors.

First stockholders in the company were Henry Clegg, Robert Broadhead, John Lee, Henry Chatwin, James Nash, Elizabeth Nash, a Mrs. Phillips, John Baird, William Baird, James Baird, Robert and William Lindsay, Milton and William Murdoch, Orson Lee, Abram Hatch, Bengt Peterson, Mrs. Elisha Jones, Richard Jones, Thomas Campbell, William Blake, Mrs. William Cole, Eric Fritckson, William Priestly, John Lloyd, Nels and Ludwig Anderson, Thomas and William Clegg, William Davis, Rasmus Miller, Rasmus Anderson and Charles W. Giles.

For several years the Lake Creek settlement continued, and separate school and church organizations were developed. However, it was gradually assimilated into the Center Creek development and became part of that community.

Industry in Center Creek has largely centered around farming. However, one of the first sawmills in the valley was constructed in Center Creek Canyon by Henry McMullin, William M. Wall and James Adams.

A general store was opened by William Baxter, who also operated a creamery. He bought milk from the farmers, made it into butter and

THOMAS CLOTWORTHY

Thomas Clotworthy, son of Hugh Clotworthy, was born May 18, 1852

He married Sarah Horner, November 30, 1874, in Salt Lake City. Thirteen children were born to them.

Thomas Clotworthy died August 24, 1905.

Eliabeth Margaret, William Cole, Lional and Marvis.

Thomas Clotworthy married Sarah Horner on November 30, 1874, in the Salt Lake Temple. There were born to them 13 children: Hugh Thomas, Sarah Jane, Thomas C., William, Janet, Mary Elizabeth, Margaret, Lional, Viola, Melando, Genivive, Marvis, and Jean B.

In the public and political life of our county, Mr. Clotworthy has been an important figure. He was chairman of the board of county commissioners. Before Heber was incorporated as a city, he served two terms on the town board. His ability and influence were also given recognition only a few days before his death, when he was elected a director in the new Mercantile Company that was being organized.

He was a quiet, honest man, energetic and aggressive in any worthy cause. He was a friend at all times to those in distress, yet modest and unassuming in his achievements. His straightforward, honorable course in life won him many friends.

In his early life, Mr. Clotworthy hauled logs, and at one time had a contract to furnish wood for the Ontario Mine at Park City. He also owned and operated a shingle mill for some time, and was thereby able to secure enough means to start in the cattle business. He later invested in sheep, and at the time of his death he was one of the leading sheepmen of our county and state. He also owned and operated a butcher shop, with Jack Hicken as a partner.

Thomas Clotworthy was the victim of a horrible accident. He and his son-in-law, Jack Witt; his nephew, Hugh Jacobs, with other sheepmen of the county, were shipping their sheep to Kansas City. At Tucker, a little station on the Rio Grande Western, the helping engines had been attached to the front and rear ends of the train to help it up the summit. Thomas, with the rest of the party following, started back into the caboose. Through some cause he was thrown from his hold, and the helping engine pushed the caboose over his body, almost severing one leg, fracturing his skull, and inflicting other injuries which later proved fatal.

the West and Utah. He came to Utah with Blair, Williams and Company, as a teamster arriving in Salt Lake one month before his parents who came on 4 Oct. 1850. They settled in Provo where Joseph helped his father and brothers. On 28 April 1857 he married Phoebe Elizabeth Bunnell. The small farm which Joseph owned in Provo was not adequate and instead of renting, he moved with his family to settle Center Creek in 1861, where there was plenty of Government land subject to entry. In 1866 when the "Black Hawk War" broke out Brigham Young advised the people to move to larger settlements and they returned to Provo. After the war he and his brother Henry leased a farm north of Heber from Thomas Ross. They left their families in Provo and left for Heber. There was no open road through Provo Canyon and they had to shovel snow from slides to get through, finally arriving at the farm and put in crops early, which paid off. They had many harrowing experiences crossing the swollen river at Charleston. The brothers had a good crop when other crops were destroyed. In 1867 David Cluff Sr. called his boys together to cooperate in the ranch and stock-raising enterprises. They decided to go to Ross Hollow and Joseph was chosen manager. This place was later called "Cluff's Ranch" and was located where Keetlev now is. Joseph was a student of the Book of Mormon and Doctrine and Covenants and gave lectures in Heber and Kamas on the historical and geographical parts of the Nephite Record. The Cluffs fenced the meadow land and built onto the log house. Father Cluff after 43 years as a shipbuilder in New Hampshire was very good at hewing logs with a broadax. Joseph went to the Eastern States on a mission and upon his return sold his interest in the ranch to William Wallace and Henry, his brothers. He moved to Central, Graham Co., Arizona where he died 4 June 1914.

Joseph's wife Phoebe, a daughter of David Edwin and Sallie Heller Conrad Bunnell, was born 5 July 1841 in Brownstown, Wayne Co., Michigan. Her parents became converts to the Gospel and were baptized in 1840. The family moved to Nauvoo where her father assisted in the erection of the Nauvoo Temple in which they received their endowments. Phoebe was but an infant when the Prophet Joseph Smith was martyred but it affected her life because the family was persecuted along with the other Saints and they abandoned their home and moved to Iowa. Here the family struggled to get means to join the Saints in the Rocky Mountains. Her father was a house carpenter and helped build up the communities where they lived before and after coming to Utah. They came to Utah on the 6th of Oct. 1852 in the J. C. Snow Company and then went to Provo to live. Phoebe had a lot of faith and was a good wife and mother. She went with her husband and other members of the Cluff family to Arizona where she died 9 Aug. 1914. Joseph and Phoebe were the parents of nine children as follows: 1. Joseph Edwin, born 6 Feb. 1858 in Provo. He married Elizabeth D. Moody 14 May 1884. He died 22 April 1920 at Central, Arizona. 2. David William, born 6 Sept. 1859 in Provo. He married Sarah Elda Mattice. He died 6 April 1917 at Thatcher, Arizona. 3. Joanna E., born 5 Jan. 1862. 4. Alpharetta R., born 25 Sept. 1866. 5. Emma L., born 2 Jan. 1868. 6. Warren Lafayette, born 23 April 1871. 7. Clarissa V., born 10 March 1874. 8. Romania O., born 5 Jan. 1877. 9. Benjamin Franklin, born 29 April 1880 and married Rhoda Isabella Blain 11 Oct. 1905. He died in Central, Arizona 23 July 1935.

WILLIAM HENRY HARRISON
CRANMER

William Henry Harrison Cranmer, president and general manager of New Park Mining Company, of Keetley, Wasatch County, Utah, has spent the past 25 years (since 1934) in guiding the destiny of one of the few remaining lead-zinc producers in the State of Utah—the New Park Mining Company. Mr. Cranmer, known as "Harry" to all his friends and neighbors, was born in Denver, Colorado, in 1881. His parents were pioneers of Colorado, engaged in extensive cattle holdings at Deer Creek, Littleton, and Denver, Colorado. He was a student at Andover Academy, and graduated from Yale University with a Ph.D. in 1906. In 1908 he was married to Margaret Wood of Omaha, Nebraska. They were married for 50 years until Mrs. Cranmer's recent death. They had two sons, Robert L. and William H. H., Jr. William passed away in 1943. He has six grandchildren.

Cranmer started early (1911) as a silver miner at Cripple Creek, Colorado, and from 1914 to 1917 he headed a reinforced concrete firm in Denver, Colorado, Jones, Wheeler

BEAUTIFUL UPON THE MOUNTAINS

& Cranmer Engineering Company. Following this Cranmer went into the United States Army as Commander of Battery "B," 146th Field Artillery. He served in France. Following the war Cranmer worked as a drill crew foreman for the Union Oil Company in the southwest. He became president of the Navajo Petroleum Corporation in the 20's, an oil drilling company, as an early pioneer in drilling for oil in northern Arizona and southern Utah. Many of the structures that Mr. Cranmer drilled in the early days with an old "star" rig have since been proven at depth as some of the major producing areas in the State of Utah, satisfactorily confirming his knowledge of geology and his early "bets."

After a brief sojourn in Santa Barbara, Calif., Cranmer returned to Utah (1934) to help put a new lead and zinc company on its feet. The company was the New Park Mining Company, and its affairs proved to be a weird legal tangle. The company was at that time $100,000 in debt; its title to its lands were clouded; the mine was mortgaged. Cranmer borrowed money to clear liens against the title to the lead-zinc properties. He sold small pieces of land to neighboring mining companies, and struggling in many ways to secure sufficient capital to maintain the operation. During these early years Cranmer wondered "whether to pay the power bill or the powder bill." The power bill always won out and was paid because it was "easier to throw a switch and shut me down," and the powder company went unpaid for a time. Under Cranmer's leadership the New Park Mining Company increased its property holdings from 1,100 acres to more than 10,000 acres today. The Mayflower Mine was modernized, the Mayflower Tunnel completed and main shaft sunk, and a total of over $2 million in dividends were paid. During this period (1934-1947) Harry and Margaret Cranmer were familiar figures in Wasatch County, making their residence at the mine in "Glencoe Gulch."

Under Cranmer's foresight the present 2005 foot level at the Mayflower Unit was conceived and is in the process (1959-) of being driven as a 6,000 foot exploratory tunnel, with some financial assistance from the now defunct Defense Minerals Exploration Administration.

Cranmer has been actively engaged in the management of the company for the past

HEBER BIOGRAPHIES

26 years and has diversified the company to the point that it now resembles a holding company rather than an operating company. Currently the Mayflower Unit of the New Park Mining Co. is under a lease system to independent lessors of Wasatch and Summit Counties.

Oil Incorporated, a corporation engaged in the drilling and production of oil and gas in the Intermountain States, was instigated under his leadership in 1946. Cranmer is now chairman of the board of directors of Oil Incorporated, and oddly enough refuses to visit any of the producing oil or gas properties on the superstition that his presence may in some way "contaminate the operation" or spoil the "luck" involved. New Park is the company's largest stockholder.

Cranmer in 1954 was instrumental in the formation of the Lucky Mc Uranium Corporation, which has recently been consolidated with the Utah Construction & Mining Co., of San Francisco, California. Until such consolidation he acted in the capacity as president, and later as vice president and ex-officio member of the Executive Committee. Under his early guidance the corporation grew into one of the major uranium mining and milling companies in the United States, operating an open pit in the Gas Hills Area of Fremont County, Wyoming. It was due to his insistence and foresight that the company now has the largest uranium mill in the area. As a result of his activities and the recent merger the New Park Mining Company finds itself today a large owner of Utah Construction & Mining Co. common stock.

Cranmer has also diversified New Park into a strong stock position with the East Utah Mining Company, which he heads as president and director, as well as the Silver Buckle Mining Company, Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, of which he is vice president and director. The Cranmer activities in addition have embraced over the years exploration in phosphate, potash, copper, gold and building stone, in an effort to diversify New Park's current slump due to the depressed price of lead and zinc.

His continued search for mineral has lead geological teams into Guatemala, Mexico, Canada, Dutch Guiana, and all of the western United States.

Currently Cranmer's thinking (some call it "dreaming"), skill, and energies are directed towards the exploration and development of minerals in the Snake Creek Mining District in Wasatch County. He believes that this district will prove as "big or bigger than the Bingham or Butte Districts." He has been "right" so many times no one dares to doubt the outcome.

Cranmer is closely supported in his many activities through the loyal cooperation of Carl and Mae Harper of Salt Lake City, Utah (formerly of Park City, Utah), and Gale A. Hansen, Superintendent of Mines, of Keetley, Utah, as well as his son, Robert L. Cranmer, an Attorney at Salt Lake City, Utah.

The Company maintains its operating office at Keetley, Utah, and its executive office in Salt Lake City, Utah.

Recently Mr. Cranmer married Helen Worden Erskine of New York City. The present Mrs. Cranmer writes a syndicated column for 127 newspapers under the name of "Dorothy Dix."

Mr. Cranmer is a member of the Independent Petroleum Association; American Institute of Mining Engineers; the Utah Mining Association; Cranmer is a Mason (K.T., 32° Shriner), and is active in the Bonneville Kiwanis Club of Salt Lake City (former President of the Park City Kiwanis Club); Cranmer is a member of the Alta Club of Salt Lake City, Utah; the Yale Club of New York City; and maintains his home at 3607 Canyon Way, Salt Lake City, Utah.
